Mrs. Angle had been at liberty under a $5,000 bond given by her father, Leonard Blondel, since the toroner began the inquiry. Ballou died on the sidewalk outside the building in wideh Mrs. Angle, whom he had been visiting had her rooms. He had been dragged from the building into the street. Mrs. Angle early made a statement to the police that the street was a statement to the police that the street was a statement to the courtroom and had Dr. Weaver repeat a description of the street was ne stain near the proms. There was one s made a statement to the police that Ballou fell down a fight of stairs, and in view of this and her nervous col-lapse, the coroner departed from cus-tom and permitted her to be at lib-erty in care of her father.

In view of this and her nervous collapse, the coroner departed from custom and permitted her to be at liberty in care of her father.

Mrs. Angle Collapses.

Mrs. Angle was taken into custody after she had been given a private hearing in the office of the chief of police, and at which, by advice of her counsel, N. C. Downs, she had refused to make any statement what ever. She had been hysterical when conducted before the coroner, and she collapsed when she realized that she had to go to a cell. Later, at the police station, Mrs. Angle became calmer. The hearing is continued for some days as many stains in Mrs. Angle's rooms which are being tested by Dr.

in Albania to Observe Conditions.

Washington, July 3, Responsibility for published statements criticising conditions in Albania credited to George Fred Williams, minister of the United States to Greece, was disclaimed by the state department tonight in a formal statement issued by Secretary Bryan.

The minister's report on his activities in the Balkans has not reached Washington, and heretofore officials of the government have been silent concerning press despatches quoting him. Secretary Bryan's statement follows:

"In reply to inquiries addressed to the department of state as to what authority the minister at Athens had to make the remarks attributed relative to the condition of affairs in Albania, the secretary of state has replied that Mr. Williams was only authorised by the department of state to wisit Ephrus to observe conditions and report the result of his observations to the department, and that the published remarks which he is alleged to have made were given solely on his own responsibility, and with no authority whatsoever from the department. Mr. Williams' report of his yielt has not yet been received."

In official circles the action of the government in issuing this statement without awaiting the arrival of Mr. Williams' report was regarded as highly significant.
